Aleesha M. Lange

(530) 496-3152 | aleeshalange@gmail.com | aleeshalange.com

Targets learning levels through careful observation and determines strong and weak abilities in students. Strong background in middle school and high school classrooms.

Builds lesson plans catering to the needs and abilities of students in diverse classrooms that focus on the quality of education.

Professional Experience

Educational Opportunity Program English Tutor

San Francisco, California | August 2015 – Present

Joined as an English tutor at San Francisco State University's EOP working with a culturally diverse group of college students who needed help with a wide variety of assignments such as lab reports, persuasive essays, and blog posts, among many others.

- Produced templates for various writing assignments
- Educated students about different writing styles, voices, grammar techniques, and structures

826 Valencia Tutor

San Francisco, California | August 2016 – May 2017

First joined as an English tutor at Everett Middle School's Straight Up News to produce a newspaper written entirely by 8th grade students focusing on global issues ranging from McDonalds menu items in other countries to how the wage gap affects women of color.

Joined again as an English tutor at Downtown High School's Acting for Critical Thought to produce a performance exhibition written by high school students focusing on resistance, resilience, and revolution. Students produced plays, narratives, monologues, and essays.

- Edited articles, essay, and plays for grammar, sentence structure, word choice, etc.
- Provided gentle support in times of frustration, sadness, and boredom
- Learned about classroom management and teaching techniques

Skills

Professional

Document organization

Online and in person communication

Understanding and teaching grammar skills and essay structures

Word 2013

PowerPoint 2013

Excel 2013

Personal

Painting

Making jewelry

WordPress blog writing

Hair and makeup

Education

San Francisco State University
Bachelor of Arts in English Education and Creative Writing
Graduating in May, 2018